Situated along the popular Bondgate in Castle Donington, this attractive three-bedroom period cottage-style property offers a fantastic combination of traditional character and modern, well-presented accommodation.

From the outside, the property has a particularly distinctive appearance, forming part of an attractive row of traditional period homes. The painted brick façade, contrasting exposed red brick to the upper floor, multi-pane windows and characterful proportions give the property plenty of charm and individuality.

Internally, the accommodation is presented to a good standard throughout and retains some lovely character features, including exposed ceiling beams, while incorporating a modern finish ideal for contemporary living.

The ground floor includes a welcoming living/dining room, providing space for both comfortable seating and a dining area, alongside a modern fitted kitchen finished with white units, wood-effect work surfaces, tiled splashbacks, gas hob, integrated oven and extractor hood, together with space for additional appliances.
