The Property

At present, the ground floor provides six generous office spaces, complemented by a kitchenette and WC facilities, creating a practical and well balanced layout for professional use. Access is available directly from Buccleuch Street, while a side entrance on St Georges Lane, complete with disabled ramp, ensures easy accessibility for staff and visitors alike. Planning permission and building warrants were granted in 2023 to convert the building back into a substantial three-bedroom home. Full details can be viewed on the Scottish Borders Council planning portal using reference 21/00421/FUL or postcode TD9 0HW.

A central staircase leads to the lower level, where four additional rooms provide excellent space for further offices, meeting rooms, studios, or secure storage. The property is comfortably heated by a recently installed gas combi boiler, and the mix of traditional sash and case windows alongside modern UPVC double glazing.

The central location is a key advantage. With the town centre just a short walk away, the property benefits from close proximity to shops, cafés, and amenities, while parking is readily available on the street outside or at the nearby free Haugh car park.

Previously used as professional offices, the building's scale, layout, and accessibility make it ideal for businesses seeking a prominent and flexible base. From office headquarters to creative studios, consultancy spaces, or health and wellbeing practices, the potential here is significant.

The property retains many original features, including ornate cornicing and high skirtings, reflecting its history as a residential dwelling.
