HARRIS & BIRT

A welcoming, practical and generous home — for living well, indoors and out.

Front Garden

Behind its charming cottage-style frontage — framed by mature hedging, an original wrought iron fence and a wisteria-clad porch that blooms beautifully in season — this four-bedroom family home is somewhere everyday life feels just a little more special.

Downstairs

Step inside and the sense of space is immediate. A generous hallway provides ample room and storage for coats, shoes and daily essentials. Through glazed double doors lies the principal living space: a large open plan kitchen, dining and family room.

Heated flagstone flooring runs throughout the ground floor, creating warmth and continuity, while a log-burning stove anchors the living area — perfect for winter evenings. Concealed behind full-height cupboard doors sits a hidden bar, an unexpected feature that transforms the space effortlessly when entertaining.

The spacious kitchen is beautifully appointed, with a layout so photogenic it has previously been used for filming cookery shows. Granite and timber worktops blend practicality with warmth, and underfloor heating ensures year-round comfort.

The dining area comfortably accommodates an eight-seater table — designed for family meals, long dinners with friends and doors thrown open on warmer days.

A separate utility room keeps everyday mess out of sight, while a downstairs WC adds convenience. Alongside the main living space, a cosy snug provides flexibility as a TV room, home office, playroom or quiet retreat.

Upstairs

A bright first-floor landing with discreet storage leads to all four bedrooms, creating an easy, family-friendly layout. Original exposed pitch pine floorboards add warmth and character throughout.

The principal bedroom sits peacefully at the rear, overlooking the garden through Juliet balcony doors with woodland views beyond. The ensuite is a true standout, finished to boutique-hotel standard with twin sinks, underfloor heating, refined

Location & Lifestyle – Hensol & Surrounding Area -

Hensol is a picturesque hamlet in the north of the Vale of Glamorgan. Despite its rural feel, it is exceptionally well connected, with the M4 just minutes away and Cardiff easily accessible for commuting or city days.

Nearby Pontyclun and Talbot Green provide a wide range of shops, cafés, restaurants and everyday amenities, including doctors, dentists, a post office and train station. The property falls within the catchment for Pendoylan Primary School and Cowbridge Comprehensive School, both highly regarded, with a free school bus serving each. The Vale Resort and Llanerch Vineyard's bar and restaurant are within walking distance, offering golf, spa facilities, dining and drinks close to home. Hensol offers the balance many buyers seek: countryside surroundings, strong schooling and convenient access to work, leisure and transport. Combined with the relative rarity of available homes, properties here remain consistently sought after.

Outside

Outside is where this home truly excels. The outlook is green and leafy — garden first, woodland beyond — and rarely overlooked.

The unusually large rear garden extends further than most, thanks to additional land at the rear. At its centre sits a heated in-ground swimming pool, framed by a tiled sun terrace that becomes the social hub of summer. Mature trees provide privacy and create a calm, enclosed feel. A composite-decked terrace wraps around a timber cabin beneath a pergola — the perfect vantage point for supervising children, hosting friends or unwinding with a drink as the day winds down. The cabin works beautifully as a home office, studio or summer house. Additional workshops, log storage and sheds provide practicality without clutter. A private rear gate opens directly onto woodland bordering the grounds of Hensol Castle — ideal for dog walks, outdoor adventures or simply escaping into nature. Closer to the house, the garden opens into lawn space, perfect for play. Practical side access connects front and rear, allowing easy movement for garden projects, pool days or muddy boots without cutting through the house.
