

Luckwell Road

BEDMINSTER

A brilliant example of a Victorian terraced home in the area that you can move straight into and add your own style. Similar houses on the road and in the area have maximised the space with loft and side extensions, which gives this family home even further potential.

I really hope the next home owners enjoy the area and community as much as I have. The convenience of North Street amenities and looking out across the City every morning is something I will miss.
