GILCRUX

WASHINGTON HOMES

Village Life Re-imagined Chapel Farm Close

Framed by the sweeping Solway coast and rolling Cumbrian hills, Chapel Farm Close is an exclusive collection of sixteen homes in the heart of Gilcrux. Thoughtfully woven into the character of the village, this brand-new development combines traditional charm with a contemporary edge to create homes that feel both timeless and quietly new. With open skies above and green horizons all around, it offers a calm that is rare and impossible to forget. Here, life unfolds gently as sunsets linger over the hills, the landscape shifts with the colours of each season, and village living brings a sense of belonging. This is a place to slow down, savour the everyday, and embrace the life you have always imagined.

Quietly Timeless

Reflective Living

Homes for Every Chapter

There is a quiet elegance to Chapel Farm Close. Graciously framed by open vistas, each home harmonises heritage and modern design, with light-filled interiors that flow naturally and create a sense openness. Kitchens crafted for cooking and conversation sit at the heart of open-plan living, opening out onto gardens that feel like an extension of your home and connect you to the countryside beyond. Lounges offer space to pause, spacious bedrooms with master en-suites provide comfort and retreat, and flexible rooms adapt to your lifestyle—whether that's work, play, or quiet moments.

Design and detail go hand in hand. High-end kitchens with integrated appliances and bathrooms with elegant en-suites bring a sense of understated luxury, while refined touches add character and sophistication. Practical features such as utility rooms, generous storage, garages, and driveway parking are seamlessly integrated where they matter most, while energy-efficient solutions—including EV charging and air source heat pumps—allow your home to work beautifully for today and tomorrow. Every detail has been chosen with care to create a home that feels effortless to live in and unmistakably yours.

A Greener,

Cleaner Lifestyle

Sustainability is at the heart of our homes, with every detail designed for comfort, performance, and care for the planet. Each build starts with a precision-engineered timber frame from responsibly managed forests, where trees are replanted to maintain balance and biodiversity. Combined with advanced insulation in the walls, floors, and roof, this creates a home with a far lower carbon footprint than traditional builds—while keeping it exceptionally warm, quiet, and affordable to run.

Inside, smart systems and subtle innovations work quietly to deliver a home that's kinder to the environment without compromise. Air source heat pumps provide clean heating and hot water, integrated EV charging extends greener choices beyond your door, and energy-saving glazing, LED lighting, and A-rated appliances come as standard. Even the smallest details—like dual-flush toilets and motion-sensor lighting—are chosen to cut waste and reduce costs, so your home doesn't just feel good, it does good too.

Comfort
In Every Corner

Out & About Gilcrux

Cradled by rolling countryside beneath vast, open skies, Gilcrux is a village of calm and timeless character. Just 140 homes trace quiet, winding lanes beneath the ancient gaze of St Mary's Church, while a cosy pub, village hall, and green quietly anchor a welcoming community of friendly faces. It's the kind of place where neighbours know each other, and local gatherings and traditions bring people together through the seasons.

Peaceful and untouched, life here moves at an easy pace, with birdsong drifting on the breeze and country walks winding along flower-lined hedgerows. Beyond the lanes, distant views shimmer toward the Solway Coast, and the landscape opens endlessly in every direction, enfolding each home in the gentle sweep of the countryside. And while it feels wonderfully tucked away, the world beyond the village is never far.

Washington Homes

Washington Homes is a Cumbrian housebuilder with a reputation for creating homes that combine character, quality, and enduring craftsmanship. Our communities span West Cumbria, from High Harrington to Brigham and Wigton to Bothel, with more exciting developments coming soon. Our homes are crafted for contemporary living, with flexible interiors, seamless connections between indoors and out, and refined finishes that make everyday living feel effortless.

The care that defines every detail is rooted in a heritage that spans almost 200 years, marked by projects that have become part of Cumbria's identity—among them Whitehaven's Buzz Station and the transformation of the Lodore Falls Hotel & Spa. That depth of experience shapes how we build today, from the materials we select to the trusted local teams we work with, so every home feels rooted in its place and ready for the people who will call it theirs, now and for generations to come.
