LOCATION

Situated within the North Yorks Moors National Park about 2 miles to the north of Pickering which is approximately 29 miles from York and 18 miles from Whitby.

DESCRIPTION

The North Yorks Moors is a special place characterised by sweeping moorland, a crinkly coast, ancient woods and timeless villages. The National Park has extensive woodland cover comprising about a quarter of its 554 square miles. The Kingthorpe Woodlands lie within this treasured landscape. Those who have travelled along the North Yorkshire Moors Railway heritage line will have travelled past lot 1 as the line is adjacent to its western boundary.

This collection of 6 woodland lots includes a wide range of species and ages ranging from mature and maturing Japanese larch, Scots pine, and mixed broadleaves to the most recent plantings in 2015 of Douglas fir, Norway spruce and oak.

The woodland contains ash where ash dieback disease is present. This disease is present in all counties of England and is likely to affect the majority of ash trees. In the short term this will offer woodland owners the opportunity for revenue from the early felling of these crops and the ability to influence the new direction of the woodland. Forestry Commission guidance in respect of alternative species for restocking include aspen, beech, birch, cherry, field maple, hornbeam, lime, oak, rowan, sweet chestnut and sycamore depending on the site. Non-native broadleaves and conifers will be considered for sites with few constraints.

A stocking schedule and plan produced as part of the 2014-2024 Management Plan is available from the selling agents on request.

This collection of woodlands enjoys good internal access over unsurfaced tracks and most have direct access off public highways. The main block, lot 1, is principally situated on the eastern side of the Pickering Beck valley. The balance of the woods is amongst agricultural land.

The woods comprise:-

LOT 1 : PICKERING BECK WOOD

184.42 acres/ 74.63 hectares

Guide price: £1,100,000

This mixed woodland enjoys good vehicular access off the A169 on its eastern boundary at points A and B on the sale plan. The northern access (A) was formerly part of the A road until its realignment many years ago. This access is included in the sale. The owner of Keepers Cottage has a right of way over the track from the A169 to his house and buildings and around the perimeter of his property. These accesses link with a comprehensive system of internal woodland rides.

The substantial area of maturing larch crops demonstrate what is achievable within this woodland from a commercial perspective. Recent restocking has included Douglas fir and further variety could be included following the clear felling of the larch in the coming years.

Pickering Beck Wood includes a long stretch of the stream meandering close to the western boundary and the famous heritage railway line. The importance of the site is reflected in its designation as the Newtondale Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI). A copy of the designation can be obtained from the selling agents. Within this property most of the SSSI area is woodland, much of which is even aged ash. Natural England has stated it prefers to see a more diverse woodland structure with a range of species and ages. Natural Capital improvement works should be easily achievable in this area.

The majority of Pickering Beck Wood is classified as Plantation on an Ancient Woodland Site (PAWS) or, in the south western corner, Ancient Semi Natural Woodland (ASNW). These designations indicate there has been continuous tree cover since before 1600 AD.

The boundaries around Keepers Cottage principally follow the edge of the rides along the boundaries. These rides are included in the sale.

LOT 2 : SCALLA MOOR PLANTATION AND LITTLE WOOD

14.32 acres/ 5.79 hectares

Guide price: £90,000

Scalla Moor Plantation is a 12.9 acre mature plantation of principally Scots pine dating from 1970. The plantation has excellent access onto the A169 along its northern boundary.

Little Wood, 1.42 acres, is an attractive small wood set amongst agricultural land. Its mixed crops include larch, Douglas fir, birch, sycamore and hazel.

Little Wood is sold with the benefit of a right of way for thinning and harvesting purposes after harvest when the field is in stubble.

LOT 3 : CROSS DYKES WOODS

7.89 acres/ 3.19 hectares

Guide price: £50,000

A small mixed woodland established in 1970 with Scots pine and mixed broadleaves. Cross Dykes Wood has public road frontage on its eastern and western boundaries.

LOT 4 : BLACK PLANTATION (PART)

4.74 acres/1.92 hectares

Guide price: £30,000

Situated just to the east of lot 3 this broadleaved wood dates from around the year 2000 . Stocking is principally birch with oak, ash and hazel. It adjoins Forestry Commission woodland forming part of Dalby Forest.

LOT 5 : COMMON PLANTATION

2.03 acres/ 0.82 hectares

Guide price: £10,000

Two small blocks of Scots pine, now over 50 years old, with good access along its southern side.

The wood is sold with the benefit of a right of way at all times and for all purposes over the route shown with a broken brown line on the sale plan.

LOT 6 : ORCHAN DALE WOODS

49.32 acres/ 19.96 hectares

Guide price: £220,000

As can be seen from the sale plan this lot effectively comprises three woodland blocks – Orchan Dale, Brewster’s Slack and Old Dale Plantation. The three woods mainly date from 1960 and contain mixed broadleaves including sycamore and ash.

The woods are sold with the benefit of a right of way at all times and for all purposes over the route shown with a broken brown line on the sale plan.

The property is sold subject to rights of way in favour of adjoining owners.
