Having not been on the market in over 50 years, this three bedroom period semi detached with its origins dating back to the 1800's has further additions added in the early 1900's and the newer addition around 2000. What the sellers most like about living here is being close to nature while also being close to the shops and excellent transport links.

The property has hand built wooden double glazed windows to match the originals fitted recently. To the front is a large garden overlooking Harlow Common. To the rear a small country court yard that merges into open woodland.
