Oak Tree Poultry Farm Yatts Road | Pickering

DESCRIPTION

Former poultry farm including various poultry buildings, workshops, secure store and office along with direct main road access, together with a further plot which may be suitable for development subject to the necessary planning permissions.

Three main poultry sheds are fully kitted out with feeders and drinkers, which could be used for a variety of storage or possibly commercial purposes subject to the appropriate consents being sought. The buildings are in good order throughout and although they have not housed poultry for over 10 years they have been in continuous agricultural use being used for dressing seed grain and storing agricultural chemicals used in conjunction with the previous owners agronomy business.

In addition, the southern most section of the site is well defined and adjacent to an existing residential dwelling and, subject to the appropriate planning consents being sought, would make an excellent residential building plot. The plot itself extends to approximately 0.29 acres (1190 sq m).

SERVICES

It is the sellers intention to have provision for access to mains water and electricity. Both of which are currently on site.

The plan shows the total site for sale edged in red and extending to 0.9682 acres (3918 sq. m.).
