Trenholme Farm

Trenholme farm is located in the heart of the North Yorkshire countryside, 7 miles north east of Northallerton, 6 miles south of Yarm and 12 miles north of Thirsk. the property is accessed down a private track off the A19 offering good access routes to the whole of Yorkshire and the North East. The property is set in 22.30 acres of agricultural land. The site is need of substantial refurbishment and lends itself as a development site with a fantastic oppotunity to create a truly unique country home.

Farmhouse

A three-story brick-built farmhouse with a south-facing aspect and beautiful views towards the North York Moors. The house benefits from 10 acres of land to the south, with the traditional courtyard and farm buildings lying to the north indicating the vast potential of the site as a whole. The farmhouse is currently in a poor state of repair and in need of substantial renovation works. Detailed proposals have been prepared showing its potential redevelopment into a large country home with annex.

Land

The land is classified as Grade 3, with soils ranging from medium to light (silty) to heavy, and a clayey loam to silty loam texture, suitable for both cereals and grassland. It is currently contract farmed by a neighbouring farmer.

Proposed Traditional Buildings Plans

As well as the farmhouse, the farm buildings lend themselves for development potential. The range of traditional brick buildings adjoin the courtyard to the north of the farmhouse. Detailed proposals have been prepared (subject to planning) for the conversion of this range into a substantial dwelling, part single-storey and part two-storey, arranged around the courtyard.

The layout lends itself well to a variety of alternative uses, such as one large residential complex or and as well as a base for a local business, subject to the necessary consents.
