A unique freehold factory conversion dating back to 1858, that was a prominent shoe makers in the 1950's before being converted to the spacious four storey split level property it now holds. The current owners have gone to great lengths to retain as much character as possible, including stripped wood and tiled flooring, feature fireplaces with log burners, and original factory windows. The main reception totals over 50' in length with the lower half offering a generous double height ceiling with ornate iron supports, leading to an open kitchen/breakfast room to the basement level. To the first floor are three bedrooms and a shower room. The property also benefits from majority double glazing, gas central heating, and a substantial L-shaped rear garden. The subtle and unassuming frontage hides a hidden gem within, and a viewing is highly recommended to appreciate the space, plot, and character this property has to offer.
