The property stands to one side of a minor country lane. There is a lean-to former coach house to one side currently used for storage (11' x 9'3" plus recess) together with a further outbuilt store to part of the front elevation.

MAIN CABIN WITH VERANDAH

Thereafter there is a secluded cottage style garden with mature hedging and shrubs together with pathway leading over a minor mountain stream to an area used for chopping logs with open fronted log stores.

LOG CABIN

The pathways meander up through the large area of mature woodland of mainly Scots Pine and some beech trees which stand tall over an area of natural flora and fauna. The mountain stream extends up along the western boundary from which there are views towards the Pennant valley together with a large timber framed and panelled cabin with a raised veranda looking south. Beyond, there is a further log cabin.

WOODLAND

PADDOCK

To the opposite side of the lane is a parcel of land which benefits from extensive frontage and fishing rights on the river Ceidiog. It provides an ideal enclosure for keeping small livestock and there are currently a variety of hens and ducks.
