Laira

Laira is an area of Plymouth which sits on the banks of the River Plym and provides a range of properties all being different shapes, styles and sizes; many of which command stunning views across the river and towards Saltram House National Trust Site in the distance. The area is most conveniently situated close to the A38 dual carriageway which links to Cornwall to the West via the Tamar Bridge and the rest of the UK via the M5 at Exeter, making it an ideal spot for commuters. Local amenities can be found nearby and just a short distance along Embankment Road there is a Sainsburys Supermarket; Plymouth City Centre is also just a short distance away. Regular bus routes operate nearby along Old Laira Road and Embankment Road which provide access into the City Centre and numerous other locations across the city.

Plymouth

Plymouth is a city on the south coast of Devon, about 37 miles south-west of Exeter and 190 miles west-south-west of London, between the mouths of the rivers Plym to the east and Tamar to the west where they join Plymouth Sound to form the boundary with Cornwall, it is also adjacent to one of the most natural harbours in the world. To the North is the Dartmoor National Park extending to over 300 square miles and which provides excellent recreational facilities. The city is home to more than 260,000 people, making it the 30th most populated city in the United Kingdom and the second-largest city in the South West, after Bristol and has a full range of shopping, educational and sporting facilities. There is mainline train service to London (Paddington) and to Penzance in West Cornwall. Plymouth is governed locally by Plymouth City Council and is represented nationally by three MPs. Plymouth's economy remains strongly influenced by shipbuilding and seafaring including ferry links to Brittany and Spain, but has tended toward a university economy since the early 2000's. It has the largest operational naval base in Western Europe – HMNB Devonport.
