Plymouth

Plymouth, Britain's Ocean City, is one of Europe's most vibrant waterfront cities. Located in one of the most beautiful locations imaginable, Plymouth is sandwiched between the incredible South West coastline and the wild beauty of Dartmoor National Park. Plymouth is 37 miles south-west of Exeter and 190 miles west-south-west of London, between the mouths of the rivers Plym to the east and Tamar to the west where they join Plymouth Sound to form the boundary with Cornwall, it is also home to one of the most natural harbours in the world. To the North of Plymouth is Dartmoor National Park, extending to over 300 square miles, which provides excellent recreational facilities. The city is home to more than 260,000 people, making it the 30th most populated city in the United Kingdom and the second-largest city in the South West, after Bristol and has a full range of shopping, educational and sporting facilities. There is mainline train service to London (Paddington) and to Penzance in West Cornwall. There's everything that you would expect to find in a cool, cultural city, with great shopping, arts and entertainment. But there's also hundreds of years of history to uncover, from Sir Francis Drake and the Spanish Armada to the Mayflower sailing in 1620, to a city rebuilt following the Blitz during World War II. With easy access to Exeter and its International Airport and a mainline train station giving direct access to London and a ferry port offering sea crossings to both France and Spain. Plymouth is governed locally by Plymouth City Council and is represented nationally by three MPs. Plymouth's economy remains strongly influenced by shipbuilding and seafaring including ferry links to Brittany and Spain, but has tended toward a university economy since the early 2000's. It has the largest operational naval base in Western Europe – HMNB Devonport.

West Park

As the name suggests, West Park is located to the west of Plymouth City Centre, less than five miles away, neighbouring Whiteleigh, Honicknowle, Ham and Ernesettle. There are a lot of local facilities here including five schools (Knowle Primary, Ernesettle Community, Marine Academy, Mount Tamar and Mill Ford), a thriving shopping precinct and some really great outdoor green spaces. Ringmore Way encircles Knowle Battery Playing Fields, on the site of the former 19th century fort. This mainly residential district grew from the need to rehome so many of the residents of Plymouth after their houses were destroyed in the second world war and sprang to life in the 1950's with most of the housing stock being built from materials of the time. West Park is one of those close knit community areas where you can find absolutely everything that you need day to day, for bigger shopping requirements there is Transit Way, a large and growing shopping complex with names like Tesco, Matalan, Lidl, B&M, Argos as well as a post office, charity shop, pet shop and an angling centre. Crownhill Road is the main arterial road that dissects West Park and Crownhill itself whilst linking East and West Plymouth and also provides an easy link to the North of Plymouth and beyond to Dartmoor at the junction with Tavistock Road.
