Plymouth

Plymouth, Britain's Ocean City, is one of Europe's most vibrant waterfront cities. Located in one of the most beautiful locations imaginable, Plymouth is sandwiched between the incredible South West coastline and the wild beauty of Dartmoor National Park. Plymouth is 37 miles south-west of Exeter and 190 miles west-southwest of London, between the mouths of the rivers Plym to the east and Tamar to the west where they join Plymouth Sound to form the boundary with Cornwall, it is also home to one of the most natural harbours in the world. To the North of Plymouth is Dartmoor National Park, extending to over 300 square miles, which provides excellent recreational facilities.

The city is home to more than 260,000 people, making it the 30th most populated city in the United Kingdom and the second-largest city in the Southwest, after Bristol and has a full range of shopping, educational and sporting facilities. There is mainline train service to London (Paddington) and to Penzance in West Cornwall. There's everything that you would expect to find in a cool, cultural city, with great shopping, arts and entertainment. But there's also hundreds of years of history to uncover, from Sir Francis Drake and the Spanish Armada to the Mayflower sailing in 1620, to a city rebuilt following the Blitz during World War II. With easy access to Exeter and its International Airport and a mainline train station giving direct access to London and a ferry port offering sea crossings to both France and Spain.

Plymouth is governed locally by Plymouth City Council and is represented nationally by three MPs. Plymouth's economy remains strongly influenced by shipbuilding and seafaring including ferry links to Brittany and Spain, but has tended toward a university economy since the early 2000's. It has the largest operational naval base in Western Europe – HMNB Devonport.

Ford

Ford is a Georgian / Victorian built area of Plymouth. It lies 1.6 miles (2.6 km) north-west of the city centre, between the suburbs of Stoke, Milehouse and Keyham. Ford is well known for having very good affordable houses with, usually, generous sized gardens. Many locals consider Ford to be one of the friendliest residential areas in the whole city. On St Levan Road there is a good size park which is popular for children and dog walkers alike with a local pub The Ford Inn. This area was once very popular with the dockyard workers due to its' close proximity and easy access to HM Dockyard, Devonport, now an increasingly popular choice for first time buyers and young families as there are some excellent primary schools close by and Stoke Damerel secondary school is only a short distance away.
