Plymouth

Plymouth, Britain's Ocean City, is one of Europe's most vibrant waterfront cities. Located in one of the most beautiful locations imaginable, Plymouth is sandwiched between the incredible South West coastline and the wild beauty of Dartmoor National Park. Plymouth is 37 miles south-west of Exeter and 190 miles west-south-west of London, between the mouths of the rivers Plym to the east and Tamar to the west where they join Plymouth Sound to form the boundary with Cornwall, it is also home to one of the most natural harbours in the world. To the North of Plymouth is Dartmoor National Park, extending to over 300 square miles, which provides excellent recreational facilities.

The city is home to more than 260,000 people, making it the 30th most populated city in the United Kingdom and the second-largest city in the South West, after Bristol and has a full range of shopping, educational and sporting facilities. There is mainline train service to London (Paddington) and to Penzance in West Cornwall.

There's everything that you would expect to find in a cool, cultural city, with great shopping, arts and entertainment. But there's also hundreds of years of history to uncover, from Sir Francis Drake and the Spanish Armada to the Mayflower sailing in 1620, to a city rebuilt following the Blitz during World War II. With easy access to Exeter and its International Airport and a mainline train station giving direct access to London and a ferry port offering sea crossings to both France and Spain.

Plymouth is governed locally by Plymouth City Council and is represented nationally by three MPs. Plymouth's economy remains strongly influenced by shipbuilding and seafaring including ferry links to Brittany and Spain, but has tended toward a university economy since the early 2000's. It has the largest operational naval base in Western Europe – HMNB Devonport.

Glenholt

Glenholt is a quiet neighbourhood on the northern boundary of Plymouth has a greener landscape than Plymouth centre, however it's only 4 miles away from the city, giving residents the flexibility to enjoy some peace and quiet and pop into the shops as they please – it's the best of both worlds here. Glenholt is a friendly community that likes to enjoy life and the natural beauty of the area. Here's all you need to know if you're looking for property for sale in Glenholt.

There are good transport links to Glenholt if you have a car, as the A386 runs along the neighbourhood's western side. This is good for anyone who needs to commute to work. Buses are available to take you into the city, these are frequent, and the journey only takes 40 minutes. The George Junction Park and Ride is also situated just outside of Glenholt, allowing residents to visit Plymouth, Derriford Hospital and Milehouse for a small fee.

Glenholt boasts a large superstore, a small local centre, and various other shops in the northern area of the neighbourhood. Glenholt doesn't have any schools in the neighbourhood, however there are primary schools in nearby Woolwell or Estover.

Glenholt is an ideal place to relax with friends and live life at a slower pace, surrounded by Plymouth's natural beauty.
