Imperial Wharf Fulham SW6

A truly pioneering 25-metre houseboat, Wanderland is a one-of-a-kind architectural sculpture conceived by artist Cyril de Commarque. Originally a 1950s Dutch grain barge, this vessel has been reimaged into a striking polyhedral form, its mirrored exterior reflecting the ever-changing moods of the river and sky. Inside, Wanderland offers light-filled, bohemian-inspired living space, with soaring ceilings reaching up to 3.69 metres. The interiors are a harmonious blend of art, nature, and comfort—designed to inspire creativity and contemplation.

Words from the Owner "If you think you understand London, think again. Until you've experienced this magical city through the eyes and ears of the River Thames, you haven't truly felt its spirit. My seven years aboard Wanderland have been utterly transformative. Living on the water—not just beside it—connects you to nature in a way that's deeply intimate and grounding. Wanderland is no ordinary boat. It's a living sculpture, lovingly crafted to foster a connection with the natural world. Onboard, you feel the rhythm of the tides, the dance of light and shadow, and the quiet pulse of the river's life."
