Location

Cambridge is justifiably one of England's finest and most fascinating Cities steeped in history and displaying a wonderful fusion of old and new. Its high powered but genteel sophistication is renowned throughout the world and the City's position, as a seat of learning and centre of innovation, has created a rich diversity of culture and a legacy of superb buildings, which reflect over 700 years of architectural heritage. There is a lively arts scene with an abundance of galleries, music, museums, cinemas and theatres together with many fine restaurants, bars and cafes. Shopping facilities are also excellent with designer outlets, independent specialist shops and high street stores as well as a bustling City centre market every day of the week. All this makes Cambridge an ideal place to live and work. Ancient parks and greens have been preserved across the City affording inviting open spaces attractive to residents and visitors alike. The River Cam meanders through the City centre and there are many vantage points from which to watch the punts as they make their leisurely way towards the open meadows of Grantchester.

The property is of walking distance of central Cambridge and a few cities have demonstrated property growth and resilience like Cambridge.
