The Location

Newton remains one of the most sought-after residential pockets within the Mumbles area — established, community-minded and superbly placed for both coastline and connectivity.

Burnham Drive is approximately 1 mile from the heart of Mumbles village, where an excellent range of independent boutiques, cafés, wine bars and restaurants line Newton Road and the seafront promenade. The sweeping arc of Langland Bay lies around 1.5 miles away, offering sandy beaches, coastal walks and a popular brasserie, while Caswell Bay is within approximately 2 miles — ideal for swimming and surfing.

For wider exploration, the world-renowned landscapes of the Gower Peninsula — Britain's first Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty — are within easy reach, providing cliff-top walks, hidden coves and open countryside.

Everyday amenities are close at hand, including convenience stores, medical facilities and cafés in Newton itself (within approximately 500 metres). The property falls within the catchment for highly regarded local schools, including Newton Primary School and Bishopston Comprehensive School.

Swansea city centre is approximately 4 miles away, offering access to Swansea University, Singleton Hospital and the mainline railway station. The M4 motorway (Junction 47) is roughly 10 miles distant, providing straightforward links east towards Cardiff and Bristol.

It is a setting that balances coastal leisure with everyday practicality — a place where school runs, sea air and village life combine naturally.
