Description

Set within a popular cul-de-sac in Bridgend, on the edge of Stonehouse, this semi-detached home enjoys a generous corner plot with established gardens wrapping around the property. The setting offers a lovely sense of space, with a wide frontage, driveway parking and access to the garage, while the position remains well placed for Stonehouse town centre, the Stroudwater Canal and the railway station, which provides direct links to London Paddington. The approach to the property is welcoming, with a driveway leading towards the house and garage. The front garden is attractively arranged with gravelled areas, planted borders and mature greenery, creating a pleasant first impression before stepping inside.

The entrance porch opens into the hallway, with doors to fitted breakfast kitchen, sitting/dining room, bedroom one and the shower room. To the front of the property is bedroom one, a generous ground floor room overlooking the garden. This room offers excellent flexibility, its size and position also allow it to be used as an additional reception room, depending on the needs of the next owner. The ground floor accommodation is completed by a shower room, fitted with a shower enclosure, wash hand basin and WC. The room is conveniently positioned off the hallway and provides practical facilities for both everyday use and guests.

Also positioned off the hallway is the fitted breakfast kitchen, which sits at the heart of the ground floor layout. The kitchen is fitted with a range of wall and base units, work surfaces, sink and space for appliances. There is room for a dining table, making this a practical kitchen and breakfast area for day-to-day living. A window looks out towards the garden, while the layout gives a good connection through the home.

To the rear of the property, the sitting/dining room is a comfortable and well-proportioned reception space, with a wide window drawing in natural light. This is a versatile room, well suited to everyday living and relaxing, with a study positioned off to one side. The study offers a useful additional space, ideal for working from home, reading, hobbies or occasional guest use, depending on requirements.

From the hallway, stairs rise to the first floor landing, where there are two further bedrooms. Bedroom two is the larger of the two upstairs rooms and enjoys a bright outlook, with built in wardrobes. Bedroom three is another double room with restricted height by the eaves and a built in wardrobe, both have windows looking out across the gardens. The first floor layout adds useful flexibility to the home and makes the property well suited to a range of buyers.

The outside space is a real feature of the property. The home sits on a generous corner plot, with established gardens wrapping around the front, side and rear. The frontage provides driveway parking, along with access to the garage, offering useful storage, parking or workshop potential.

The rear garden is well arranged and enjoys a good degree of space, with lawn, planted borders, mature hedging and seating areas. A paved patio provides a pleasant spot for outdoor dining and relaxing, with a timber pergola adding further interest to the garden. There are also raised vegetable beds, a greenhouse and a shed, making the garden ideal for those who enjoy growing, gardening or spending time outdoors. The combination of lawn, planting, productive garden areas and practical storage gives the outside space a lovely balance of usability and charm.

It is fair to say the property would suit buyers looking to update and modernise a home to their own taste. That said, it has clearly been well cared for over the years and offers excellent potential. The generous corner plot is a particular feature, giving a wonderful sense of space and scope for the next owner to make the most of the setting, subject to any necessary consents.
