About The Property

Tucked away in a pleasant spot with lovely valley views, this two to three-bedroom cottage has been carefully modernised to create a comfortable and stylish home. Blending character with modern convenience, the property offers well-planned living spaces and plenty of flexibility for different lifestyles. Located within 2 miles of Cae Bach and New Quay beaches.

The heart of the home is the vaulted kitchen and dining area. This is a bright, sociable space with porcelain tiled flooring and a practical layout that combines charm with functionality. A range of wall and base units, including a useful pantry cupboard, provide ample storage, while the range-style electric cooker forms a natural focal point. There's space for a fridge/freezer and a built-in dishwasher to keep everything neat and tidy.

At the centre of the room, a large island adds both extra worktop space and a breakfast bar, ideal for everyday use or for relaxed gatherings with friends and family. There's still plenty of room for a dining table, making this a space that works well for both cooking and conversation. From here, sliding doors open to a walk-in storage and utility area, fitted with shelving, a base unit, and space for a tumble dryer – keeping household tasks tucked out of sight but within easy reach.

Leading through from the kitchen, the layout flows into the lounge area. A multi-fuel stove with a feature wooden mantel and tiled hearth creates a warm and welcoming centrepiece. Built-in dresser-style shelving and a cupboard provide character and useful storage, while an under-stairs cupboard adds practicality. The staircase to the first floor rises from this room, giving the area a natural sense of connection between the living spaces.

Beyond the lounge, an open-plan snug area adds flexibility. Currently divided by a curtain, this space works well as a cosy sitting area but could be easily adapted into a third bedroom or a home office, depending on what's needed. A door from here opens to the front, offering a second access point and a bit of extra versatility in how the space is used.

Upstairs, the landing connects two double bedrooms and the family shower room. Both bedrooms enjoy dual aspect windows, bringing in good natural light and giving pleasant views over the surrounding area. The shower room is fitted with a double shower enclosure, WC, and sink, finished in a simple, modern style that suits the rest of the cottage.

Externally:

The property sits behind a gated entrance, offering a sense of security. There's parking for up to four cars, a real advantage for anyone with visitors or multiple vehicles. A pathway leads from the parking area to the main garden, which is laid mainly to grass with mature planting and flower beds adding seasonal colour.

The outlook from the garden is one of the property's highlights. The views stretch out across the valley below, offering a lovely backdrop through all seasons. It's an ideal spot for spending time outdoors, whether that's tending to plants or simply sitting back and enjoying the scenery.

To the rear of the cottage sits a paved patio area, accessible directly from the kitchen and dining space. This is a natural place for outdoor dining or a quiet morning coffee, with the far-reaching views adding to the sense of space.

At the far end of the garden lies a hidden area known as the "Woodland Walk". This secluded corner gives the garden a sense of depth and could be used in several ways – perhaps kept as a natural path, turned into a chicken run, or adapted for garden storage. It's a lovely feature that adds character and possibility to the outdoor space.

Also to the rear are a number of useful garden sheds, along with the oil tank for the central heating system, all positioned neatly out of the main view.

Overall, this cottage combines the charm of a traditional building with a practical and contemporary layout. The vaulted kitchen/diner, flexible living spaces, and generous garden with its beautiful views make it a property that feels both comfortable and adaptable. It's well presented throughout, offering a balance between modern comfort and countryside character that will appeal to those looking for a home with personality and purpose.
