About The Property

Set in the heart of West Wales, only a short distance from the beautiful coastline of Cardigan Bay, this property offers a rare opportunity to acquire a home with flexible living space, a detached annex, a holiday apartment, and a generous paddock. Covering around 2.9 acres in total, it balances the comforts of a substantial main house with the income potential and family accommodation provided by the annexe and holiday apartment.

The gated entrance opens to a tarmacked driveway leading directly to the front of the house. From here, the drive continues up the side of the property where a further gated access leads to the rear yard, garage, annexe, and holiday apartment parking. This sense of practical layout continues throughout, with each part of the property having clear separation while still connecting smoothly.

The main house begins with a part-glazed porch that doubles as a reception area. This space benefits from underfloor heating, a welcome feature that runs throughout the ground floor. Exposed brick walls and double-glazed doors lead into the hallway, setting a tone of solidity and craftsmanship that continues across the house. Solid hardwood flooring stretches through this level, adding both warmth and practicality.

Off the hallway are two ground-floor bedrooms. To the right is bedroom five, currently used as an office, and to the left lies bedroom four. Both are good-sized rooms that could adapt to a range of uses depending on circumstances. Also off the hallway sits the family bathroom, which has been finished with porcelain wall and floor tiles. This bathroom is fitted with a wet-room style shower, a jacuzzi whirlpool bath, WC, and a double sink with a vanity unit. Two storage cupboards complete this central area, alongside the staircase to the first floor and access to the main living spaces.

Towards the rear lies the family room, living room, and sunroom. The living room offers generous proportions and is centred around a multi-fuel stove set into a brick surround with oak hearth and slate base. Glazed double doors connect this space with the garden. Adjacent lies the sunroom, fitted with sliding doors leading to the rear patio, creating a link to the outside space.

The family room is the true hub of the house. Its size and finish give it a notable presence, with tiled flooring the owner believes to be Italian marble, an A-frame vaulted ceiling, Velux windows, and a fully glazed rear wall overlooking the patio. Within this space the lounge, dining area, and kitchen blend seamlessly. The dining section flows to a kitchen fitted with oak worktops on the breakfast bar and marble surfaces elsewhere. A comprehensive range of units, Rangemaster oven, space for an American-style fridge freezer, and integrated dishwasher complete the practical side. A door from here leads to the utility room, which offers further storage, space and plumbing for laundry appliances, and external access to the side of the house.

Upstairs, the landing is a broad space with two Velux windows and storage cupboards, including an airing cupboard. The master bedroom is positioned to the right. This room features a vaulted ceiling, private balcony with glass balustrade, walk-in wardrobe, and en-suite shower room. The two further bedrooms are both doubles, each with their own walk-in storage and private en-suites.

Externally :

The outside space behind the house has been set up for both enjoyment and practical use. A paved patio area holds a sheltered Hot Tub/Jacuzzi swim spa. Steps from here lead up through a gateway to the rear yard. The yard is tarmacked and gives access to the field, garage, and annex. Alongside sits a raised garden area with greenhouse, beds, and a lawn.

The garage is fitted with an up-and-over door and its own WC, providing useful flexibility. Next to this lies the annex, which has its own separate entrance. The annex begins with a kitchen that flows into a dining and lounge space. There is a double bedroom and shower room, making this a self-contained one-bedroom home.

The rear field measures approximately 2.4 acres. It is grassed and sectioned with fencing, with two hard-standing areas and four electric hook-ups for caravans, please note that there is no planning or licence for caravans or camping, and this would be unlikely to obtain due to the access. Access is available both from the rear yard and via pedestrian and vehicular rights over neighbouring land.

The holiday apartment is positioned above the garage and annex, accessed by a ramp from its own parking and garden area. This garden also features a sheltered hot tub and space for two vehicles. Inside, the apartment begins with a dining area that runs into the kitchen. While some headroom is restricted in places due to the roofline, Velux windows bring in natural light. The apartment includes a shower room, lounge, and two bedroom areas. Occupancy is restricted to 28 days at a time, making it suitable as a holiday let or for occasional extended use.

Taken together, the property offers a balance of living space, income potential, and land. The annexe could suit extended family, while the holiday apartment provides an opportunity to let or host visitors. The main house, with its underfloor heating, marble finishes, vaulted ceilings, and well-planned kitchen, serves as a comfortable centrepiece. The paddock, with caravan hook-ups and access options, adds a useful element of land.

Situated in West Wales, with Cardigan Bay close by, the location offers both countryside and coastline within easy reach. The property's scale and range of features make it adaptable, capable of supporting family life alongside income generation. Its design avoids unnecessary ornamentation, focusing instead on function, comfort, and the practical benefits of multiple living spaces.

Whether considered as a family home, a home with annexed support, or as a property with letting potential, this house provides scope and flexibility. The combination of around 2.9 acres, a substantial main house, annexe, holiday apartment, garage, and paddock makes it a rare offering in this part of West Wales.
