About The Property

Looking for a detached bungalow with genuine 1980s character and no onward chain, a village shop opposite and scope to modernise over time? This three-bedroom home in Blaenffos offers off-road parking, an integral garage and convenient access towards Crymych, Cardigan and Cardigan Bay in West Wales.

This detached three-bedroom bungalow is located in the semi-rural village of Blaenffos, near Crymych, in West Wales. Positioned at the head of a small cul-de-sac just off the A478, the property sits opposite the village shop and benefits from being on a regular bus route, making day-to-day life surprisingly convenient for a village setting. The location also allows straightforward access towards Cardigan and the wider Cardigan Bay coastline.

Built in the early 1980s, the bungalow remains largely as originally fitted, including the kitchen and bathroom. These have been exceptionally well maintained over the years and remain fully functional, while also offering clear scope for modernisation for those wishing to update the property to suit contemporary tastes. The appeal here lies in the honesty of the home – solid, well cared for, and ready for the next chapter.

The entrance hall provides access to all the principal rooms and includes a useful airing cupboard housing the hot water tank and LPG gas-fired Worcester boiler. The lounge is a comfortable, well-proportioned room with a gas fire set within a stone surround. Patio doors open onto the side lawn, giving the room a pleasant connection to the outside and offering potential for a conservatory or extended seating area, subject to any necessary consents.

Details Continued:

The kitchen/diner retains its original 1980s fittings, including base units, space for an under-counter fridge, a Tricity ceramic electric hob and an eye-level Tricity double oven and grill. There is space to the front of the room for a kitchen table, making it a practical everyday space. While many buyers may wish to replace the kitchen over time, the condition and nostalgia attached to this well-preserved original is genuinely appealing. A door leads through to the utility room, which includes a sink, useful storage cupboards and an additional gas hob. From here, doors open to the rear patio and into the integral garage.

The garage is fitted with an up-and-over door and offers space to park one vehicle, along with attic access and a former coal store which is no longer in use. It also includes a WC fitted with the original pink suite, comprising a toilet and wash hand basin.

Back in the hallway, doors lead to three double bedrooms, all offering space for wardrobes and enjoying windows overlooking the side or rear of the property. The family bathroom is fitted with the original avocado suite and includes a bath, separate shower, wash hand basin and WC.

Externally:

Outside, the property enjoys a private tarmac driveway providing off-road parking for two to three vehicles and leading directly to the integral garage. Mature hedging runs along one side, with a stone wall to the front, and a lawned garden wraps around from the front to the side of the bungalow. Paths lead to the front door and around both sides of the property to the rear. The side garden borders the main road, separated by a raised bank between the pavement and grass verge. This area has not been fenced by the current owners but could be enclosed if additional privacy was required.

To the rear is a patio area which also houses the LPG gas tank and is enclosed by fencing. One small section of fencing remains to be completed, and the owners have confirmed this will be finished prior to a sale being finalised.

Overall, this is a well-kept bungalow in a practical village location, offering space, potential and easy access towards Cardigan Bay and the surrounding areas of West Wales.

Early viewing is recommended to appreciate both the condition and the opportunity this property offers.
