About The Property

Tymaris is a two-bedroom detached bungalow situated in the rural village of Llandyfriog, near Newcastle Emlyn. Set alongside a country lane with a wooded backdrop and a collection of useful outbuildings included in the sale, this is a property with plenty of scope for a new owner to update and put an individual stamp on.

The accommodation is arranged entirely on one level. While the bungalow would benefit from general modernisation and improvement, it already has a practical layout, a notably generous living space and plenty of natural light from its numerous windows.

Entry is into a hallway, with the bathroom immediately accessible from here. The bathroom is particularly practical, having both a bath and a separate shower enclosure, together with a WC and wash hand basin.

The separate kitchen and is fitted with a range of base and wall units, work surfaces and a sink beneath the window. There is space for a freestanding cooker and washing machine, while the room offers enough space to rethink the existing arrangement as part of a future refurbishment. A window looks out towards the surrounding greenery, and a door provides external access.

From the kitchen, the accommodation continues into the main lounge, and this is one of the strongest features of Tymaris, it provides considerably more living space than might initially be expected from the outside. A run of windows along one side brings in good natural light and gives views towards the surrounding countryside and trees, while a fireplace forms a focal point at one end of the room. There is ample room to create separate sitting and dining areas if preferred.

Two bedrooms are positioned beyond the lounge. Both have external windows and could equally provide flexibility for anyone needing a home office, hobby room or occasional guest space alongside the main bedroom.

Tymaris is heated by an air source heat pump and has mains electricity and mains water. Solar panels are installed on the roof. The drainage/sewerage arrangements are also currently being established and further information will be provided when available.

Externally:

Outside, the bungalow sits above the narrow road, with garden areas extending around the property. There are small areas of grass, established shrubs and planting, together with a wooded bank rising behind. The grounds currently have a fairly natural feel and would benefit from some attention, leaving plenty of opportunity for landscaping and creating more defined sitting and garden areas. A timber garden shed provides further storage.

An unusual and useful part of the sale is the collection of outbuildings positioned on the opposite side of the lane. These traditional corrugated and timber structures are included with Tymaris and provide useful storage and workshop space in their current form. Their condition and suitability for any particular use should be assessed by prospective purchasers, but having this additional space alongside a two-bedroom bungalow is certainly worth noting.

Tymaris will suit buyers prepared to take on a programme of updating and make the most of what is already here. The combination of single-storey accommodation, a particularly generous lounge, two bedrooms, outside space and the included outbuildings gives the property plenty to work with.

Viewing is recommended to appreciate the setting, accommodation and potential of Tymaris and to see how the additional outbuildings could be put to use.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE AREA:

Llandyfriog is a rural community within the Teifi Valley, with the market town of Newcastle Emlyn nearby providing a useful range of everyday amenities, independent shops, cafés and services.
