About The Property

Looking for a characterful waterfront cottage with elevated views over the River Teifi and a layout designed to make the most of its setting? Cormorant Cottage offers an upside-down arrangement, parking, optional extra garden land and an exceptional position close to St Dogmaels, Poppit Sands and Cardigan Bay in West Wales.

Cormorant Cottage forms part of what was once a substantial waterfront estate occupying a remarkable position between St Dogmaels and Poppit, with the River Teifi curving around the peninsula below. Historically owned by shipowners and sea captains, the estate house sat perfectly placed to watch vessels heading out towards Europe and the Americas, and that strong maritime connection is still very much part of the atmosphere here.

Now one of five original properties within the estate, Cormorant Cottage sits as an end-of-terrace home and enjoys a slightly elevated position with open views across the estuary. The design makes clever use of its setting, arranged as an upside-down house so that the main living space takes full advantage of the outlook across the water towards Cardigan Bay.

The ground floor begins with a useful entrance porch leading into the reception hall, where there is space for coats and everyday storage. Just off the hall is a cloakroom with WC, shelving and space and plumbing for a washing machine, keeping practicalities neatly tucked away. The double bedroom is also on this level, a comfortable room with a built-in walk-in wardrobe and a window looking out towards the river. Accessed externally is a useful storage room which houses the oil-fired boiler and provides further space for outdoor/beach equipment.

Details Continued:

Stairs rise from the hall to the first-floor landing, where the layout really comes into its own. The lounge and dining area is a bright, well-proportioned room with windows on two sides framing wide views over the Teifi estuary. It's easy to imagine this space set up simply, allowing the changing river, boats and wildlife to do most of the talking. A separate kitchen sits alongside, fitted with matching wall and base units, an electric hob with extractor, built-in oven, fridge and dishwasher, and a practical layout that keeps everything within easy reach.

Also on this level is the bathroom, fitted with a bath and shower over, WC and wash basin, with a Velux window bringing in natural light. There is also useful access to loft storage, always welcome in a cottage setting.

Externally:

Outside, access is via a country lane leading onto a shared driveway serving the main house and three cottages. Each cottage, including Cormorant, benefits from the right to one parking space. To the front of the property is a small courtyard area, a lovely spot for a table and chairs where time can easily be spent watching the tide move through the estuary.

There is also an option, by separate negotiation, to purchase an additional block of garden land to the north of the cottage, available for a separate asking price of £25,000. This area enjoys excellent river and sea views and includes lawned sections, fruit trees, a garden shed and several old railway carriages which would require repair or removal. For those wanting more outdoor space away from the main house, it offers genuine potential for growing produce, relaxing, or creating a simple seating area overlooking the water.

Cormorant Cottage suits buyers looking for a manageable waterfront home with character, history and a setting that continues to draw people to this stretch of Cardigan Bay.

Viewing is strongly recommended to fully appreciate the position and outlook.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE AREA:

The wider setting is a big part of the appeal. The River Teifi is well known for boating and wildlife, with regular sightings of birds and otters. Poppit Sands is around a mile away and provides easy access to the coast, while the village of St Dogmaels, also about a mile away, offers a strong community feel with its award-winning gastropub, community-owned pub, historic Abbey with café, working water mill, weekly market and a wide range of local activities.

Cardigan, roughly two miles away, provides a full range of shops, cafés, restaurants and services, while road links connect easily with the wider West Wales area, Carmarthen and the A48/M4 beyond.
