About The Property

A beautifully presented bungalow in the sea side village of Aberporth with partial sea views, walking distance to the two pretty beaches and the village amenities. With off road parking, attached garage, conservatory, enclosed rear garden and a very useful garden room/home office. The village of Aberporth benefits from many amenities such as a village shop, post office, pharmacy, pub with restaurant, café, Indian takeaway & restaurant, chip shop, primary school, nursery, and so much more, and the nearby coastal path is a short walk away giving access to the spectacular Ceredigion Coastal Path in Cardigan Bay, west Wales.

Access into the property is through the front porch, with poly-carbonate roof, windows front and side and space to hang coats and store shoes and boots. A door leads into the spacious lounge, with beautiful wood flooring, a fireplace (currently closed off but we have been informed by the owners this could be opened up again if needed), an opening into the kitchen/diner and a door leading into the hall.

The stunning kitchen/diner is a harmonious and inviting space, with matching wall and base units, elegantly complemented by solid wood worktops with breakfast bar, integrated dishwasher and fridge, discreetly tucked away behind cabinet doors, a butler sink which stands as a timeless centrepiece, adding a touch of classic charm while offering practicality for everyday use. A beautiful SMEG 5-ring gas and electric range oven, an airing cupboard, providing convenient storage space, and houses the gas fired combi boiler. A door leads out to the side of the property and gives access to the rear garden and the attached garage. And finally, another door leads into the conservatory. The conservatory beckons with promises of relaxation and enjoyment, with a poly-carbonate roof, sea and garden views, sliding patio doors to the rear with steps down to the rear garden, and a door to the side to give access to the patio and garden room/home office.

The hall has wood flooring and doors leading to three double bedrooms, two to the rear of the property and one to the front, and the family shower room, fitted with a spacious double shower and a vanity toilet and wash hand basin unit with ample storage cupboards.

The attached garage offers practicality and convenience, and has space and plumbing for a washing machine, units with work tops over, space for freezers, and could provide secure parking and additional storage space for all your beach needs. There is also an attic hatch in the side wall that access the ample storage above the property. (The owners have informed us that they are happy to leave the white goods in the garage if needed).

The garden room is a timber built building with windows overlooking the garden and has power and lighting, this space is currently used as a home office and is a great addition to any home.

Externally:

To the front the property is accessed off a small cul-de-sac road onto its own block paved driveway through pillared entrance and walled boundaries. The drive leads to the front door and the attached garage, and offers parking space for 2/3 cars (or a small boat or two!). Paths lead to gated access on both sides to the rear garden, with the path on the right passing steps to give access to the side door into the kitchen, and the rear door into the attached garage. The enclosed rear garden is mainly lawn, with patio area just off the conservatory. Paths and steps lead up to the sliding patio doors into the conservatory, and across the lawn to another patio area which is decked and offers a lovely seating area to the side of the garden room. There are raised beds down one side and at the bottom of the garden is a useful garden shed with decking outside, a green house and the gas tank. The sea can be seen from various points in the garden making this a lovely place to sit, relax and enjoy some outside dining and entertaining.

This is a beautiful, very well presented bungalow on the edge of a small cul-de-sac in a very pretty coastal village offering the best of sea side living.
