About The Property

Looking for a brand new, high-spec family home within walking distance of Cardigan town, with generous space, modern finishes and a great layout for everyday living? This four-bedroom detached property at Maesydderwen offers a stylish open-plan kitchen and sun room, integral garage, and a well-designed garden, all within easy reach of the Cardigan Bay coastline in West Wales.

This is one of those new builds that feels properly thought through, both in layout and finish. Set within the popular Maesydderwen development on the edge of Cardigan town, the property combines clean, modern design with practical family space, and the benefit of being ready for its first owners on completion.

The approach is neat and smart, with a brick paved driveway providing parking for several vehicles alongside the integral garage. The front elevation has a balanced, contemporary look, with a mix of brick and rendered finish that gives it a bit more character than many standard new builds.

The front door opens into a bright and well-proportioned hallway, with stairs rising to the first floor and a useful WC tucked neatly beneath. The sense of space is clear straight away, helped by the light décor and clean lines that run throughout the house.

To one side sits the main lounge, a comfortable reception room with a feature fireplace, offering a more separate space away from the main hub of the home. It's a good size for everyday use, whether that's evenings in or a quieter room when the rest of the house is in full swing.

To the rear, the layout really comes into its own. The kitchen, dining and sun room are all combined into one open-plan space that works very well. The kitchen itself is fitted with a modern range of units in a soft grey tone, complemented by integrated appliances including a dishwasher, fridge freezer, NEFF oven and grill, and hob with extractor.

The dining and seating area flows through towards the garden, where a feature triangular window and rooflight bring in plenty of natural light. Patio doors open directly onto the patio, making this a space that connects well with the outside, particularly in the warmer months.

Off the kitchen is a separate utility room, fitted with matching units and a sink, along with space and plumbing for white goods. This room also provides access out to the side and into the integral garage, which houses the manifolds for the underfloor heating system and offers additional storage or parking for a vehicle.

Upstairs, the landing is spacious and open, with a window allowing in plenty of light and an airing cupboard for storage. All four bedrooms are genuine doubles, which isn't always the case with new builds and makes a noticeable difference in how the space can be used.

The main bedroom benefits from its own en-suite shower room, finished in a clean, modern style. The remaining bedrooms are served by the family bathroom, which includes a bath, separate shower, vanity unit and WC, all finished in a neutral palette that will suit most tastes.

Externally:

Externally, the rear garden has been designed to be easy to manage while still offering a good amount of usable space. A paved patio sits directly outside the sun room, ideal for outdoor dining, with a second smaller seating area outside the utility door. The main garden is laid to grass, bordered by raised beds that offer the chance to add planting and soften the space over time. The whole garden is enclosed with fencing, giving a good level of privacy.

Overall, this is a solid, well-designed new build that offers a good balance between modern style and practical living space, in a location that continues to attract strong interest. Early viewing is recommended once completed to fully appreciate what's on offer.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE AREA:

The location is another strong point. Maesydderwen is a sought-after development within Cardigan, placing shops, schools, and everyday amenities within walking distance. Cardigan itself remains one of the most popular towns in this part of West Wales, with a mix of independent shops, cafes and practical facilities. The coastline of Cardigan Bay is also within easy reach, with well-known spots such as Gwbert, Poppit Sands and Mwnt all just a short drive away.
