About The Property

Looking for a spacious character home with a separate annexe and countryside views? This four-bedroom house in Tremain, just off the main coast road and close to Cardigan Bay in West Wales, offers flexibility, generous gardens, and practical outbuildings across a well-kept quarter-acre plot.

This characterful four-bedroom home with a detached one-bedroom annexe brings together traditional features, generous space, and a location that offers both convenience and a connection to the surrounding countryside of West Wales. With Cardigan Bay within easy reach, and the town of Cardigan a short drive away, this property makes good sense for anyone looking to combine comfort with flexibility, whether that’s for extended family, guests, or additional income (subject to permissions).

The main house sits back from the road, accessed via a tarmac driveway that curves gently through the front garden, providing off-road parking for multiple vehicles. A mix of established trees, shrubs, and seasonal planting wraps around the house, giving it a settled and well-maintained look from the outset.

Inside, the entrance hall is a spacious space, tiled underfoot and featuring a semi-vaulted ceiling and double-glazed window to the front. The oil-fired boiler is housed in a discreet under-stairs cupboard, keeping the hallway uncluttered. Doors from here lead through to the key reception rooms.

The lounge features a fireplace with a marble surround and ceiling beams that add subtle character without being overpowering. With a rear-facing window and French doors opening onto the patio are it keeps the room light throughout the day. Wall lights provide gentle evening lighting. Also from the hallway, a door links directly to the snug room with an ornate open fireplace. The snug mirrors many of the same features as the dining room– including beams and dual-aspect windows – offering a sense of flow between the two, as both these rooms also have beautiful arched windows.

The kitchen is accessed from either the hallway or the dining room, and is a welcoming and practical working space, fitted with a full range of base and wall units, tiled splashbacks, and a tiled floor. There’s an integrated fridge-freezer, Bosch dishwasher, eye-level AEG oven with grill, and a separate four-ring hob with extractor above. A serving hatch connects this room to the lounge, making it easier to use the two rooms during larger gatherings. There’s space for a table and chairs in the kitchen too, for everyday meals.

rear garden, and the tiled floor throughout this area helps keep it low-maintenance.

Upstairs, the landing is lit by two double-glazed skylights and includes a sizeable airing cupboard housing the hot water cylinder with shelving. There’s also access to the loft space from here.

The main bedroom is a generous double, with a picture window to the side, built-in wardrobes, and its own en-suite shower room. The en-suite includes a corner shower, WC, and a vanity unit basin, with tiled walls and a window to the front.

An inner hallway links to a cloakroom with a vanity basin and WC, as well as the boot room and utility. This area is fitted with further units, a sink, plumbing for a washing machine, and space for additional white goods. A double-glazed stable door provides easy access to the patio area and

Bedroom two is another spacious double with fitted wardrobes, windows to the rear and side, and access to eaves storage. Bedroom three also features rear-facing windows, wardrobes, and a vanity basin. Bedroom four, while slightly more compact, still holds fitted storage, shelving, a work desk, and a wash basin, and is lit by both a skylight and a side window.

The family bathroom includes a corner bath with a mixer shower, pedestal basin, WC and bidet, while a separate shower room contains a cubicle and heated towel rail – a layout that provides both flexibility and convenience for families or guests.

Detached Annexe

The detached annexe, positioned between the main house and the rear garden, is fully self-contained. It's accessed via a stable door that opens into an open-plan kitchen/living/dining space with tiled flooring throughout. Fitted with a mix of modern base and wall units, a 1.5 bowl Belfast sink, built-in electric oven and hob, and integrated appliances including a dishwasher and washing machine, this space is well set up for independent living.

A built-in cupboard offers additional storage and French doors open onto the patio, offering easy movement between indoor and outdoor space. Stairs from this room lead to the first-floor bedroom, which is lit by two skylights and includes access to both loft and eaves storage. The en-suite shower room is fitted with a Jacuzzi-style shower, vanity basin, WC, tiled walls, and a heated towel radiator.

Externally

The outdoor space is a real asset. The main home and annex buildings are linked by a broad brick-paved patio area, ideal for seating, barbecues, or just day-to-day use. The garden, which totals approximately a quarter of an acre, wraps around the house and has been thoughtfully laid out with lawned areas, planting beds, mature shrubs, and trees.

To the far side of the plot, a pathway leads to a workshop, and garden sheds — all of which are connected to power, offering options for hobbies, projects, or storage. There's even a lightly wooded section beyond, adding a different texture to the garden space and a more natural feel that sits well within the broader West Wales landscape.

Many parts of the garden, especially to the rear and side, enjoy far-reaching views across the countryside, giving a sense of openness without the need for large expanses of land.

Altogether, this property makes a strong case for multi-generational living or for those simply looking for a character home with plenty of space and flexibility in a well-connected corner of West Wales.
