About The Property

Looking for a coastal cottage with front-line sea views and a balcony overlooking Aberporth beach? This beautifully updated three-bedroom home in West Wales combines modern open-plan living with vaulted bedrooms, beach outlooks and two allocated parking spaces just moments from Cardigan Bay.

A beautifully presented coastal cottage in the heart of Aberporth, enjoying direct views across the beach and out over Cardigan Bay. Positioned behind a walled frontage with railings, the approach leads into a paved patio garden area, setting the tone for relaxed seaside living in West Wales.

The entrance porch, with a stable-style door, opens into the main living space. The lounge and dining area are open plan, creating a sociable layout that works particularly well for coastal homes where the outlook plays such an important role. A bay window to the front frames views of the beach and sea, while a log burner set on a slate hearth provides a practical focal point for cooler months.

The dining area also benefits from a bay window with sea and beach views, making the most of the setting throughout the day. Stairs rise from this space to the first floor, and there is a natural flow through to the rear of the property.

To the back of the ground floor sits a useful boot room – ideal after time on the beach – with space for coats, shoes and storage. A door leads out to the side of the house, and there is also access to a ground-floor WC with toilet and wash-hand basin.

The kitchen has been modernised in a sleek, contemporary style with underlighting and integrated appliances including fridge, freezer, washing machine, tumble dryer and dishwasher. There is a one-and-a-half bowl sink with a drainer, an electric hob and oven, and a tiled splashback that complements the gloss units. The layout is practical and well thought out, making good use of the available space.

Continued:

Upstairs, the accommodation is cleverly arranged over two sections, connected by a landing with glass balustrade and stainless steel railings, giving a slightly more modern feel against the cottage backdrop.

To the rear is a shower room with corner shower, WC and wash hand basin, finished with pebble-style flooring. The third bedroom is also positioned to the rear and works as a generous single or small double, enjoying sea views to the side.

To the front of the property, double glass doors open onto the balcony – one of the standout features of the house. From here, there are direct views over the beach and across the bay, offering a great spot to sit and watch the tide and activity along the shoreline.

Bedroom two is a double room with sea views to one side and beach views to the front. The vaulted ceiling and exposed A-frame beams add character and a sense of height. Bedroom one mirrors this style, also featuring vaulted ceiling and exposed beams, along with sea and beach views. Both rooms feel bright and well-proportioned, with the coastal setting always in sight.

The main bathroom is accessed from bedroom one and is fitted with a bath, separate shower, WC and twin wash hand basins, along with a useful airing cupboard for storage.

Externally, the front balcony makes the most of the setting overlooking Aberporth beach, while the property benefits from two allocated parking spaces directly in front – a valuable feature in this part of the village.

Aberporth remains one of the most sought-after coastal locations along this stretch of Cardigan Bay, known for its sandy beaches, coastal path access and strong community feel. Everyday amenities, cafés and pubs are within walking distance, while the wider attractions of West Wales are all within easy reach.

A well-located coastal home with modern touches and character features.
