About The Property

Looking for a spacious three-bedroom detached bungalow with flexible living space, generous gardens and a substantial workshop? This property combines three reception areas, extensive off-road parking and around 59m² of additional workshop space in a rural location near Newcastle Emlyn.

A well-proportioned three-bedroom detached bungalow offering around 127.5m² of accommodation, with a particularly flexible layout, generous gardens and an impressive workshop. Located in the rural village of Capel Iwan, the property combines a countryside setting with convenient access to Newcastle Emlyn and the wider West Wales area.

The bungalow is approached through gates onto an extensive driveway, providing plenty of off-road parking and access around the property. The gardens form a significant part of Afallon's appeal, with established planting, lawns, fruit trees and productive growing areas creating an outside space that has clearly been enjoyed and well used.

The main entrance opens into a bright enclosed porch, with windows looking across the garden and a characterful tiled floor. From here there is access to a useful coatroom before continuing into the main accommodation.

The living room is one of the most generous rooms in the bungalow. There is plenty of room for different furniture arrangements, while windows provide good natural light. A wood-burning stove set within a fireplace provides a focal point to the room and complements the oil-fired central heating.

Alongside the living room is a separate dining room. Having a dedicated dining space gives the bungalow a degree of flexibility that isn't always found in single-storey homes, particularly as there is also a further sitting room.

Details Continued:

The kitchen, sits centrally within the bungalow and is a practical working space with a good range of fitted base and wall units, providing useful cupboard and drawer storage together with worktop space for food preparation. There is a sink positioned beneath the window, allowing natural light into the room, along with space for cooking appliances and additional storage.

Beyond the kitchen is the separate sitting room. This gives the property two genuinely useful living spaces in addition to the dining room, allowing different areas to be used for everyday living, hobbies, reading or entertaining without having to compromise the main lounge.

Adjoining this part of the bungalow is a good-sized utility room, together with a separate shower room. This secondary section of the accommodation is particularly practical and adds to the flexibility of the overall floor plan.

A long central hallway leads to the three bedrooms and main bathroom, the principal bedroom, with a further double bedroom. Bedroom three it suitable as a bedroom while also offering scope for a home office, craft room or similar if three bedrooms aren't required.

The family bathroom is fitted with a bath with shower over, wash hand basin and WC, with contemporary tiling around the bath. Together with the separate shower room at the other end of the bungalow, the layout provides useful additional facilities for family life and visiting guests.

Externally:

Outside is where Afallon becomes particularly interesting. The gated driveway provides extensive off-road parking, with hard standing extending around the bungalow and providing practical access to the various outside areas.

The gardens are well established and have a lovely informal feel. Areas of lawn are interspersed with mature shrubs, flowering plants and trees, including fruit trees, while dedicated vegetable beds and a greenhouse provide plenty of opportunity for growing produce. There are also seating areas and established hedged boundaries, creating different sections within the garden rather than one uninterrupted space.

Another major feature is the workshop, measuring approximately 11.7m x 5.06m, equating to around 59m² of additional space, perfect for anyone needing substantial storage or workspace. There is also a separate vehicle entrance to the workshop via another gateway off the country lane, with additional parking spaces.

Overall, Afallon offers considerably more than the three-bedroom accommodation alone might suggest. The combination of three reception areas, two bath/shower rooms, a utility, substantial gardens, extensive parking and the sizeable workshop gives the property plenty of flexibility, with the benefit of predominantly single-storey living.

Viewing is recommended to appreciate the amount of accommodation, outside space and additional workshop space Afallon has to offer.
