About The Property

Looking for a traditional stone-built village house with genuine character, original features and a generous, 0.37 acre grounds? Vaynor offers a well-balanced two-bedroom layout, a strong kitchen/diner and a central Drefach Felindre position with easy access to West Wales countryside and Cardigan Bay.

Vaynor is a traditional, stone-built, double-fronted home with two bedrooms, sitting right in the heart of the popular rural village of Drefach Felindre. The position works well for village life, with everyday amenities close at hand, while still being within easy reach of Newcastle Emlyn and the wider countryside of West Wales, and the coastline of Cardigan Bay beyond.

The panelled front door opens into a central hallway where the tone of the house is immediately clear. Quarry tiled flooring, original panelled doors and a staircase rising to the first floor all set the scene, giving a sense of the property's age and character without feeling overdone.

To one side of the hall is the lounge, a comfortable front-facing room with a traditional sash-style timber window. An open Victorian-style fireplace sits on a slate hearth with decorative tiled sides and a timber mantel, creating a clear focal point. A pointed stone feature wall and original exposed floorboards add depth and texture, making this a room that suits both everyday use and quieter evenings.

Running across the rear and front of the house is the kitchen/diner, which is a real strength of the layout. This is a well-proportioned, practical space with sash-style windows to both elevations, allowing good natural light throughout the day. The dining area features a fireplace with a wood-burning stove, with a cupboard housing the oil boiler and tank to one side of the chimney breast and an alcove to the other. There is also a useful under stairs cupboard with a rear window. Exposed beams and quarry tiled flooring, continuing through from the hallway, reinforce the traditional feel.

Details Continued:

The kitchen area has been newly fitted with matching wall and base units topped with wooden work surfaces. There is space and plumbing for a washing machine, space for an electric oven set within the inglenook, and a sink with drainer. A timber door leads directly out to the rear patio, which works well for day-to-day access to the garden.

Stairs from the hallway rise to the first floor, where a window on the half-landing overlooks the rear garden and brings light into the stairwell. The landing retains original exposed floorboards, has access to the attic, and leads to both bedrooms and the bathroom.

Bedroom one is a generous double room with a window to the front and exposed floorboards. An opening leads through to an additional room, currently ideal as a dressing room or nursery, but equally useful as a home office or hobby space depending on needs.

The bathroom sits to the front of the property and is fitted with a three-piece suite comprising a bath with screen and electric shower over, WC and a distinctive stone wash hand basin set on a wooden display shelf. Walls are tiled around the bath, while the exposed floorboards continue the period feel seen elsewhere in the house.

Bedroom two is another good double, also front-facing, with exposed floorboards and a straightforward, practical layout.

Externally:

Outside, the property sits within 0.37 acre grounds with; gated access to the side leads around to the rear entrance and patio area, where a covered section provides a dry and sheltered spot for log storage or outdoor use. Steps lead down from here into the rear garden, which is arranged over three sections. Closest to the house is a lawned area, followed by a more enclosed section passing a former pigsty and old "Ty Bach", with the garden continuing beyond a greenhouse and two garden stores. At the far end is an orchard area, all surrounded by mature trees and hedged boundaries, giving structure and privacy without feeling closed in. Parking is on the street, there is ample space directly outside this house for 2 cars, but this land is not owned by this house.

Early viewing is recommended to fully appreciate the balance of character, space and village location on offer.
