"From the moment we first stepped inside, we fell in love with this home's charming Victorian character and generous open space. Over the years, we've lovingly renovated our home with care, preserving its original features while adding modern touches that make it both beautiful and functional. The open-plan living area has been the heart of our home – our fondest memories include hosting New Year parties or enjoying quiet nights by the log burner with our cats. This has been the perfect first home for us, and we hope the next owners will find just as much joy here as we have."
