"This was our first home as a couple. We got married here, had our children here. We love it and the view is unbeatable; it's as if you are in the countryside with a sea of green. With a south facing garden the light is quite fantastic and after we opened up the living space the light floods through back to front. A lot of thought has gone into making it a warm and welcoming, which echo's the neighbourhood and neighbours, who on both sides are close friends. A very special house in a great location."
