As we step through the front door, we're welcomed into a bright central hallway that immediately gives a sense of space and flow. From here, every main room of the home is easily accessible.

Moving straight ahead, we enter the kitchen, which has been beautifully refurbished. The space feels light and open thanks to the dual-aspect windows, and the modern grey cabinetry pairs perfectly with the white subway-tile splashbacks. The wood-effect worktops wrap around in an L-shape, offering plenty of space for cooking and preparation. The contemporary herringbone flooring ties everything together, giving the room a stylish, modern finish. It's a lovely, bright area that feels very much like the heart of the home.

Heading back into the hallway and turning left, we step into the sitting room. This is a generous, inviting space with a large window drawing in natural daylight. There's plenty of room for sofas, a media unit, and additional furnishings, making it perfect for relaxing or entertaining.

From here, we continue back through to the hallway where the bathroom sits centrally positioned. The bathroom has been freshly updated with a clean white suite, including a full-length bath with modern grey wall panelling behind it. The vanity unit beneath the basin provides useful storage, and the frosted window ensures privacy while still letting light flood in. The same grey herringbone flooring as in the kitchen continues here, creating a smart, cohesive style throughout the home.

Carrying on down the rear hallway, we reach the two bedrooms.
