GENERAL INFORMATION

Situated in the sought-after coastal village of Pwll, this attractive semi-detached home enjoys a superb position within a well-established community set on a narrow ledge above the tidal Burry Estuary, perfectly placed midway between Llanelli and Burry Port. The land rises gently away from the coast, allowing for far-reaching views across the estuary towards the Gower Peninsula, creating a scenic and ever-changing backdrop to village life.

Pwll is concentrated along the northern side of the A484 and is part of the Llanelli Rural community, offering a blend of coastal living and everyday convenience. The village benefits from a local shop, post Office, a selection of public houses, a primary school, and active senior and junior football teams, fostering a strong sense of local identity.

One of Pwll's standout features is the traffic-free Millennium Coastal Path, which runs along the seaward side of the village. This popular greenway provides walkers and cyclists with a thirteen-mile coastal route from Bynea to Pembrey, passing close to the property and offering stunning views across the estuary to the Gower Peninsula. The path also highlights Pwll's unique place in history, including the nearby commemorative plaque marking Amelia Earhart's 1928 transatlantic landing on the sands off Pwll.
