A CHARMING THREE BEDROOM HOME IN A STUNNING SETTING

Nestled in the picturesque countryside of Bolton by Bowland, King Henry's Mews offers a unique blend of history and modern living. King Henry's Mews in Bolton-by-Bowland is a residential development established in the 1990s, occupying the historic grounds of the former Bolton Hall. This once-grand estate famously sheltered King Henry VI in 1464, during his flight following the Battle of Hexham. Though the hall itself was demolished in the 1950s, its legacy lives on in the Mews, which now encompasses the reputed site of King Henry's Well—a natural spring said to have been discovered by the King during his stay. This charming end-terrace house, boasts an impressive 1,464 square feet of living space spread over three floors. With three well-proportioned bedrooms and two inviting reception rooms, this home is perfect for families or those seeking extra space.

The property has been thoughtfully designed to retain its traditional character while incorporating stylish decor and contemporary kitchen and bathroom fixtures. The result is a home that feels both welcoming and sophisticated. The location is particularly appealing, as it provides a tranquil retreat surrounded by stunning natural beauty, yet remains conveniently close to the vibrant towns of Settle, Skipton, and Clitheroe.

Residents of King Henry's Mews can also enjoy the delightful surrounding grounds, which are often visited by local wildlife, including pheasants and deer. This enchanting setting not only enhances the charm of the property but also offers a wonderful opportunity for outdoor enthusiasts to explore the beautiful countryside.

In summary, this deceptively spacious home in King Henry's Mews is a rare find, combining historical significance with modern comforts in a serene location. It is an ideal choice for those looking to embrace a peaceful lifestyle while still having access to nearby amenities.
