A RARE DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITY IN A STUNNING LOCATION

A rare opportunity to acquire a traditional stone property with planning permission to create a substantial family home, occupying a stunning rural position within approximately six acres of land in the sought-after village of Tosside.

Set amidst beautiful open countryside with far-reaching views, the property offers exceptional potential for those looking to undertake a comprehensive renovation and create a bespoke home in a peaceful yet well-connected location. Positioned between Clitheroe and Settle, the property provides excellent access to both the Forest of Bowland National Landscape and the Yorkshire Dales National Park, making it an ideal setting for those seeking a rural lifestyle with access to two of the North's most celebrated landscapes.

Planning permission has been granted for the conversion of the existing building into a family residence. Whilst some initial works have commenced, the property remains largely a blank canvas, allowing purchasers the opportunity to complete the project to their own specification, subject to complying with the relevant planning permissions and building regulations.

Prospective purchasers should be aware that the property requires substantial renovation and redevelopment. The extent of the works should be carefully considered before arranging a viewing, as this is not a property suitable for immediate occupation and will appeal primarily to developers, builders or buyers seeking a significant restoration project.

The surrounding land extends to approximately 5.78 acres and provides excellent scope for those looking for a lifestyle property with gardens, paddocks or smallholding potential, subject to any necessary consents.

Properties offering this combination of planning consent, acreage and location are rarely available, presenting an outstanding opportunity to create a truly individual home in an exceptional countryside setting.
