The coast is about 8 miles distant.

Description

This Edwardian family home is steeped in history having once been a polling station, Nursing Home and Home Guard Drill Hall in the Second World War. The property has a mix of painted rendered elevations with tile hanging, under a clay tile roof with a later brick extension to the side and front. The property further benefits from having an excellent energy performance rating, solar panels and highly efficient air source heat pump.

The accommodation comprises of a covered glass porch with outside lights and power, entrance hall with French Oak composite flooring. Walk in understairs storage cupboard and a further understairs storage area. Glazed double doors open to the modern fitted kitchen with integrated dishwasher and space for fridge-freezer, large walk-in pantry and upright storage cupboard. Electric underfloor heating under slate floor. Mahogany doors with cornicing open to the stunning, very large reception room with decorative ceiling and wall panels. Large bay window and French Oak composite floor with insulated underfloor heating. Open fireplace with stone hearth and art deco mahogany surround and mantle. Doors to the Hall and second reception room. Door leads from the kitchen to an inner Hall/Utility area with two sets of in-built storage cupboards, one of these housing the underfloor heating manifolds. Utility area with two further storage cupboards, being an airing cupboard and space for the unvented water tank, and space for two under counter appliances. Downstairs cloakroom with large walk in shower cubicle. Second charming double aspect reception room with cast iron spiral staircase acting as a secondary staircase to the first floor.

From the hall a return staircase with skylight leads to the first floor landing with ladder leading to an insulated and partly boarded attic with windows. The principal bedroom benefits from two double fitted wardrobe cupboards, hand basin and ensuite toilet. Double aspect second double bedroom with decorative ceiling rose with views over the rear garden, hand basin and former fireplace with raised grate. Triple aspect third double bedroom with former fireplace, hand basin and spiral staircase to the ground floor. Fourth bedroom with wash basin and cupboards and space for appliance (doubles as a kitchenette by present owners). Modern fitted family bathroom with separate double bath. New large walk in shower and vanity unit, and fitted cupboard. Underfloor heating and radiator.

To the front of the property is a substantial mature garden with various flower, shrub beds and trees, fenced children's play area and a treehouse and a winter garden. A wrought iron gate leads to the rear of the property to the west facing rear garden with various mature flower beds. The garden comprises of a variety of 'garden rooms' including pergola walkway, raised bed parterre, crazy paved snug area, rock garden and patio and lawn areas. Mature fruit trees and some palm trees. To the rear of the property is an artificial grass area with outside sink unit with hot and cold water. Air source heat pump, outside light points and water tap. A detached brick built Garden Room with skylights, electric lights, phone sockets and power and just past this is a pergola and a further seating area.

The main driveway has planted areas either side and is newly laid to tarmac (over which one neighbour has a right of way to access their property). A private horseshoe drive access the house with parking for multiple vehicles. A separate rear private drive leads via timber gates to a further parking area laid to peashingle held within stabilising grid and leading to the triple Garage Block with electric light, power and doors to each single garage. A workshop is attached to the garages. This beautiful property is set back some distance from the road and benefits from having a Ring Security system with three cameras.

The property further benefits from 16 solar panels on the roof of the garages, supported by a GivEnergy 9.6Wh battery and transformer, whilst the heating is provided by an efficient air source pump serving the radiators, principal reception room and underfloor heating. The bathroom and kitchen underfloor heating is a dry system powered by electric, while the principal reception room is wet system powered by the ASHP. Full details of this can be seen on request.
