It's excellent location offers great access for Brighton train station, the seafront, and the city centre as they all within easy walking distance, making it an ideal choice for those seeking convenience, connectivity, and a vibrant city lifestyle.

Description

Set within a secure gated development, Lainson House is perfectly positioned between the Seven Dials and the Centre of Brighton itself, with access to maintained communal gardens and a decked roof terrace. This historic building was originally the Royal Alexandra Children's Hospital, built in 1881 and used for over 100 years, before finally closing and relocating to its new site at the County Hospital in June 2007.

A key fob allows residents to access both the undercroft parking, where a lift services all floors and the impressive main entrance door, where the spacious foyer with chandeliers, high ceilings & decorative cornicing oozes a luxurious feel whilst leading you round to the flat entrance.

Located towards the rear of this sought-after development, boasting spectacular floor-to-ceiling windows allowing natural light to flood all the principal rooms from the Southerly aspect, this is a property not to be missed.

Once inside, the entrance hall leads you to all rooms, including the en-suite bedroom with sliding doors and privacy screen fencing allowing you to step out to your own outdoor oasis; the plush tiled bathroom suite is in a contrasting colour scheme. The boiler cupboard and guest W/C can also be located in the inner hallway.

Solid Oak flooring connects all of the internal space, and blends seamlessly with feature walls, custom drapes and the vendors' perfectly matched furniture. The main hub of the home and standout feature is the Living space, with architecturally designed curvature of the walls mixed with the oversized windows & doors creating a refined yet welcoming space. All the doors open onto the wrap-around private terrace, seamlessly connecting the outside space.

The dining area flows beautifully to the kitchen where high-gloss, handle-less units offer plentiful storage and solid worktops allow space to create your favourite meals!

Additionally the development has allocated underground parking ensuring there is never an issue with something this close to town, there are beautifully maintained gardens, whilst the roof terrace on the top floor is a joy to entertain from!

Early viewing is deemed essential to appreciate the excellent condition throughout
