For a small town Fowey provides a good range of shops and businesses catering for most day to day needs. The immediate area is surrounded by many miles of delightful coast and countryside much of which is in the ownership of the National Trust. There are good road links to the motorway system via the A38/A30. Railway links to London, Paddington, can be made locally at Par, and St. Austell and there are flights to London and other destinations from Newquay.

ACCOMMODATION

The Shell Seeker is a well presented and extremely charming, period cottage full of character and features. This much loved property is currently a holiday let but would also make the perfect second home or main home.

From Station Road steps lead up to a shared pathway which give access to a row of terraced cottages, the property is located at the end of the path.

The front door opens into the warm and welcoming dining room/kitchen showcasing the period features and character of the property, including the exposed painted ceiling and beams, and an eye-catching stone fire place. Attractive light coloured, luxury vinyl flooring runs throughout this room. The kitchen features a range of shaker styled wooden base and wall units with integral fridge freezer and dishwasher and freestanding electric oven. From the dining area, a door leads through to the sitting room, stairs rise up to the first floor and a door gives access to the rear garden.

The sitting room is another lovely, light and cosy room with solid oak flooring. A stone fireplace makes the perfect focal point to the room and houses an electric fire.
