After unlocking the cobalt blue entry door, you'll ascend a carpeted stairway towards the second floor. The kitchen and reception is first on the tour, which has been configured to maximizing the light and space flowing through the room. The focal point of this delightful open plan space is the large original sash windows fitted a few years ago, casting a wealth of natural light to dance across the room. Residing beside a deep charcoal grey sofa are three chunky staggered floating shelves, perfect for displaying Parisian novels, potted ivy, and photographic prints. A pleasing transition between kitchen and living features here, with a subtle wooden floor divider separating new carpets and recently laid linoleum. Subway tiling forms the splashback in the kitchen, alongside an industrial-style stainless steel pendant lighting fixture that hangs above a glass dinette, with room for four. Recently fitted spacious IKEA wardrobes with glass fronted sliding doors provide an added intrigue and practicality in the bedroom, found towards the rear of the property. Brand new fitted bathroom with new built in shower with overhead shower, large storage alcove and sink with storage and fully tiles with white bistro tiles.
