The property requires complete refurbishment throughout, making it particularly suited to buyers, developers or investors looking for a project with the opportunity to add value.

One of the property's major attractions is the good-sized rear garden, which also incorporates a garage and offers the potential for a separate building plot, subject to planning permission and all necessary consents. This could provide an exciting opportunity for future development, subject to the buyer making their own enquiries with the relevant planning authority.

The property is situated on Hall Street in Soham, a popular market town with a range of local amenities, schools, shops and transport links. The postcode is predominantly residential, with a mixture of period and modern properties.
