

179 Hinckley Road

, Leicester, LE3 0TF

£550,000

Presented to the market in good condition and generating an immediate, reliable income stream, this imposing and characterful period property on Hinckley Road represents precisely the kind of turnkey investment opportunity that discerning property investors seldom encounter.

Offered for sale with the benefit of four fully let, self-contained apartments, the astute purchaser will find themselves the beneficiary of an established and productive asset from day one, with zero void period to navigate and no remedial work to undertake.

The property itself commands immediate attention - a substantial, characterful building that retains much of its original architectural presence whilst having been thoughtfully converted and finished to a modern standard throughout. Each of the four self-contained apartments is of a similar size and footprint, and whilst the layouts vary between units, each provides a comfortable and practical arrangement of open-plan living, kitchen and dining space, a double bedroom, and a contemporary bathroom. The presentation throughout is of a good standard - clean, modern and well-maintained - the kind of finish that attracts and retains quality tenants with minimal intervention from a landlord.
