Levisham Mill, Levisham Mill, Levisham, YO18 7NJ Guide price £1,100,000

Levisham Mill – A Unique Five-Bedroom Country Home in the North York Moors

Set in approx. 18 acres in a secluded valley near the coast, Levisham Mill is a rare former water mill combining historic charm with modern comfort. The land includes woodland, a 4-acre paddock, formal gardens, a mature conifer plantation, and two trout-filled streams feeding a 12-foot waterfall, ponds, and a small lake. The property enjoys full fishing rights and is a haven for nature lovers.

The mill is integrated into the main house, which spans three floors and includes five bedrooms and three well-appointed bath/shower rooms. Period features such as exposed beams, thick stone walls, and the original water wheel and internal mill workings are retained throughout, giving the home a rich sense of heritage and character.

The ground floor includes a bespoke handmade kitchen with granite worktops, Belfast sink, gas and electric Agas, a formal dining room, two sitting rooms (one with a multi-fuel stove), a utility/pantry, and a striking stone-floored reception room, ideal as a second lounge or creative studio. A large wooden conservatory with underfloor heating offers panoramic views down the valley and brings the outside in.

The upper floors, accessed via two staircases, offer five generous bedrooms and three bathrooms, including a top-floor room currently used as an artist's studio.

Outbuildings include a garage/workshop, the original dairy, and a stone stable across the stream with potential for conversion (STPP). The house is double glazed, has gas central heating, and was recently re-roofed. A truly exceptional rural home with space, privacy, charm, and lifestyle appeal. Levisham Mill is ideal for buyers seeking tranquillity, character, and a deep connection to the landscape. Whether as a family home, creative retreat, or lifestyle change, it offers scope for equestrian use, hobby farming, or holiday accommodation (STPP).

Viewing highly recommended.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF LEVISHAM MILL

Tucked away in the wooded valley of Levisham Beck within the North York Moors National Park, Levisham Mill holds a rich and fascinating history that echoes the area’s rural heritage. The mill dates back to the 18th century, when it served as a working corn mill, harnessing the natural power of the beck to grind grain for the surrounding farms and local community.

Once part of the Duchy of Lancaster estate, Levisham Mill played a vital role in village life, with generations of millers living and working on site. The mill continued to operate well into the 19th century, before eventually ceasing production as modern milling techniques and transportation changed rural industry.

In the decades that followed, the mill buildings were sensitively converted, blending original features such as stone walls, exposed beams, and the old mill race with the comforts of contemporary living. Today, Levisham Mill stands not only as a beautiful home, but also as a reminder of the area’s agricultural past, a place where history and nature exist in perfect harmony.
