Situations and Description

The small rural village of Norton Canon lies in northwest Herefordshire and has a pretty church and active village hall. Local services are available in the larger villages of Weobley and Credenhill, which between them offer both primary and secondary schools as well as shops and restaurants. The cathedral city of Hereford then lies less than 5 miles away and offers an extensive range of facilities, as well as a main line train station.

Traditionally built by the current owners some 50 years ago, this practical and well organised bungalow stands in a large plot with ample parking and enough space to extend if required, subject to approval. Current benefits include oil fired central heating, double glazing throughout, fitted wardrobes and adaptable accommodation, which it may be possible to extend if required.

On arrival, a recessed porch and front door lead into a reception hall that provides access to all the internal rooms and includes a useful storage cupboard for coats and shoes as well as access to the roof space. The lounge is very comfortable with lots of natural light from windows at one end, as well as sliding patio doors that overlook the gardens and the adjoining orchard. There is also a stone fireplace with an open fire for colder evenings. A separate dining room overlooks the front and lies next to a practical kitchen which offers plenty of cupboards and workspace, as well as a walk-in pantry and rear lobby with access to the rear gardens.

There are then three good-sized bedrooms, all with built-in wardrobes, which offer plenty of storage space and these are supported by a well-equipped family bathroom with built-in airing cupboard.

From the kitchen an inner door connects through to an integral single garage with up and over door, window to the side and boiler room at the rear with oil fired central heating boiler and hot water cylinder. There is then a separate WC accessed from the rear porch.

Outside

The bungalow is approached from the village lane by its own driveway which leads to a large parking and turning area. There is a good-sized lawn to the front with a pathway then leading around to the rear gardens which are very spacious and again laid to lawn. They adjoin an apple orchard to one side and include a patio to the rear of the property, a number of mature trees, a variety of shrubs and a useful greenhouse.
