Kingsley Moor Cottage is a truly charming period home, set in a picturesque position on Kingsley Moor, enjoying far-reaching views over the surrounding countryside. Brimming with character, the property showcases a wealth of original features typical of its era, including low ceilings with exposed beams, quirky wooden staircases, and striking exposed brick and stone fireplaces. These traditional elements are perfectly complemented by the current owners' thoughtful improvements, with the cottage presented to an exceptional standard throughout, enhanced by stylish and individual décor that beautifully respects the building's heritage whilst providing modern, country living.

The accommodation is both versatile and deceptively spacious, offering a layout ideally suited to multi-generational living or potential holiday letting, with one section of the property capable of being entirely self-contained. To the ground floor, the breakfast kitchen spans one end of the cottage and is fitted with an attractive range of farmhouse-style units, finished with a combination of granite and solid wood work surfaces. This space opens into a delightful breakfast room, centred around an exposed brick fireplace housing a cast iron multi-fuel stove complete with a fully functional oven. A rear porch provides access to the garden, while a staircase rises to the first floor.

Positioned to the front of the property, the dining room offers a wonderful setting for entertaining, combining a cosy atmosphere with an elegant feel, featuring an ornate fireplace and decorative wall panelling. A door leads through to the main lounge, a warm and inviting space with exposed ceiling beams and a multi-fuel stove. From here, access is provided to a further sitting room, which benefits from its own private entrance via the front porch, along with a kitchenette and a separate utility/WC. A second staircase rises from this area to the rear landing, leading to a double bedroom, a shower room, and further bedroom accommodation—perfect for independent living arrangements.

To the first floor at the opposite end of the cottage, the landing leads to a stunning family bathroom, beautifully appointed with a traditional suite including a freestanding slipper bath and high-level WC, and offering Jack and Jill access to Bedroom Two, which is positioned to the front aspect enjoying views over the front garden and surrounding fields. adjacent to Bedroom Two is the Fourth Bedroom, which in turn leads on to Bedroom Three, with a flexible layout that could easily be adapted to create a self-contained two-bedroom annex, alongside the main Two Bedroomed Cottage, if required.

Externally, the property is approached via a sweeping gated tarmac driveway, providing ample off-road parking and leading to an attached double garage. The gardens are a particular feature, having been beautifully landscaped to offer well-maintained lawns, well-stocked borders, and a charming fish pond. To the rear, a paved seating area provides the perfect spot to relax and take in the stunning rural views, complemented by a delightful summer house overlooking the fields and a quirky garden room/store, most recently used as a garden bar, offering potential for a variety of uses.

Despite its tranquil setting, the property remains conveniently located within easy reach of the village of Kingsley, which offers a range of local shops and amenities as well as a popular primary school, while the nearby market town of Cheddle provides a wider selection of facilities, including schools, shops, and leisure options. This is a rare opportunity to acquire a characterful and highly adaptable home in a truly idyllic countryside setting.
