Overall Description

Filmer Cottage, named after earliest known owner Susan Filmer, is a beautifully presented Grade II Listed detached property in the heart of the sought-after village of Great Amwell just a short drive from Ware. The property has been lovingly up-dated by its current owners over the last 22 years and it has a long and interesting history dating back to the 1711 when it was first rebuilt, then comprehensively re-modelled by the illustrious Victorian architect, geologist and civil engineer Robert W Mylne in 1877. The property has a great deal of character and charm but despite being called a cottage, has surprisingly good-sized rooms, with an unexpected but gratifying sense of light and space particularly in the main sitting room, kitchen/dining room, bedrooms and bathroom. The property also has a snug in what was formerly a hayloft, a downstairs shower-room and steps down to a lower level with office/occasional fourth bedroom, utility and cellar. The mature cottage style gardens are a real feature of this property, attractively landscaped and on three sides. There is a separate outbuilding, originally Rose Cottage, but now a double garage with gym and store room above. Next to this is the private driveway with ample parking. If you are looking for something a little out of the ordinary in a desirable village location then we would strongly recommend coming to see this delightful period home. We have an Open Day booked from 10am to 11am on Saturday the 12th of July so please call to book to come and look around.

Location

This charming property is located at the heart of the picturesque and sought-after village of Great Amwell, just a mile and a half outside of Ware, at the northern end of the Lea Valley in East Hertfordshire. The village has a church (St John the Baptist - next door), excellent school (St John The Baptist CE Primary School), pre-school (Little-uns), well regarded pub/restaurant (George IV - just across the road) and Parish Hall which hosts the Amwell Society. The house is in the catchment for the village Primary school and Presdales in Ware and there are other excellent schools locally including Haileybury in Hertford Heath. The village is perfect for walking and cycling with the Amwell Nature Reserve just a short walk away, a designated Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and a wetland site of international importance. There are excellent travel links close-by with train stations at Ware, St Margarets and Broxbourne with regular services to London. The A10 is just a few minutes drive away and leads to the M25 in around 20 minutes.
