Entrance Hallway

A recessed open porch gives shelter from the elements and access to an external timber door with a decorative opaque and leaded glazed panel, leading to the entrance hallway. A staircase rises to the first floor accommodation, beneath which is a useful storage cupboard. Off the hallway, an internal door leads into the living room.

Living Room

This very spacious reception room is light and bright with two uPVC windows on either side of the chimney breast. It has a stylish composite fire surround with a raised hearth and living flame effect gas fire. There is oak style laminate flooring, plenty of space for furniture and two radiators. Two steps lead up to twin timber and glazed doors which lead through to the dining room.

Dining Room

This room has a full height angled ceiling and is light and bright with two large Velux windows and additional rear and side uPVC windows. It makes an ideal formal dining room, but could also be used as a second sitting room. There is a timber fire surround with a raised tiled hearth, home to a gas fire, along with wall light points.

Kitchen

From the living room, access can be gained into the kitchen, which has base units with wood block style worktops and a rectangular Belfast style sink. The worktop extends to create a breakfast bar and there is space for freestanding appliances, such as a fridge freezer, along with plumbing for an automatic washer. There are rear and side windows, a composite external door leading to the driveway and a radiator.
