Dining Kitchen

This room can also be accessed from the hallway and is a very spacious room. It has an extensive array of units to high and low levels, with worktops and a one-and-a-half bowl stainless steel sink with a single drainer and mixer tap. The worktops extend to create a breakfast bar and there is plenty of space for a formal dining table. Integrated appliances comprise a five-ring gas hob with a canopy style filter hood above, built-in ovens beneath and a dishwasher. There is housing unit for a freestanding American style fridge freezer and space and plumbing for an automatic washing machine. The room has a high ceiling incorporating downlighting, along with a radiator. To the rear elevation, there is a uPVC window and an external door.

Lobby

Off the dining kitchen, there is a lobby area with a rear uPVC window and steps leading down to the cellar.

Cellar

The cellar is the mirror image of the space above and comprises two good-sized rooms. The larger room is positioned at the rear with a uPVC window and houses the boiler for the central heating system. There is a hot and cold water supply and this area could be used as a utility area. The former coal cellar now provides handy storage and has a rear uPVC window.

First Floor Landing

From the hallway, the staircase rises to the first floor landing, which has spindle balustrading. It is light and bright with neutral decor and an opaque uPVC rear window. The landing has a staircase leading to the top floor and a radiator.
