Luckington is a popular village with many lovely old houses and cottages together with a mixture of more modern properties. It is a thriving community with an excellent pub, village shop, church and primary school. There are further amenities in the neighbouring village of Sherston and the lovely old towns of Malmesbury and Tetbury are both within a ten mile radius. The M4 and M5 motorway networks provide good communications with the area's major employment centres and there is a mainline train from Chippenham, about ten miles south-east.
