

Sandstone Place, , London, N19 5TU

£425,000

Now requiring updating throughout, this one bedroom apartment with a south-facing balcony is located on the first floor of a popular development on Sandstone Place, part of the popular Whittington Estate (aka Highgate New Town), designed by architects Peter Tábori and Kenneth Adie. Natural light flows throughout the property, and there is the benefit of a small room to the rear, offering the opportunity to create an excellent wfh space or a guest bedroom. Within walking distance of Hampstead Heath and Waterlow Park, the flat is also a short stroll from Archway station for the Northern Line.
